Expansion of External Markets Planned By Premier Lyons, Who Asserts Restored Financial Sound Basis; National Income Up $300,000,000 and $6,500,000 Surplus Shown

Country Party's Policy Outlined

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 14.—The claim that Australia has achieved one of the most spectacular economic recoveries known to the world was made here by Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons, in a speech opening a whitened campaign leading to the federal elections on September 15.

Premier Lyons claimed the government had fulfilled all its promises to restore the finances of the country to a sound basis, so Australia would once more live within its income and have its industries.

The national income has risen by $300,000,000 the Premier said. The last budget had shown a surplus of $6,500,000 despite restoration of cuts in the pensions and civil service lists.

Mr. Lyons outlined the country party's policy to Great Britain and the empire and said it was proposed over a brief span of years to recondition and improve the country's economy.

The government had already announced steps to strengthen the steel and air establishments.

Magistrate Jay Orders Commitment on Two Charges; Witnesses Tell of Deals

James William Maynard was committed for trial by Magistrate Jay in the city police court this morning on charges of fraudulent conversion of a trust property, and failing to keep proper accounts of business transactions while more than $1,000 in debt.

For three hours a courtroom, at first fairly well filled, heard the evidence for the prosecution.

On the reading of both charges Mr. Patton objected strenuously on the grounds they should come under the Bankruptcy Act rather than the Criminal Code. He was overruled by Magistrate Jay in both instances.

Mr. Patton maintained the proceedings had not been properly initiated in the charge of fraudulently converting trust funds. It was necessary to apply to a superior court for (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

JOHN LABATT KIDNAPPED

President of Ontario Brewery Company Believed Held at Sarnia

Sum of $150,000 Demanded By Abductors; Police Active in Sarnia Area

Canadian Press
London, Ont., Aug. 14.—John S. Labatt, president of the Carling Brewery Limited, was kidnapped to-day while traveling by motor between London and Sarnia.

$150,000 DEMANDED
London, Ont., Aug. 14.—Hugh Labatt, brother of John Labatt, left for Toronto late this afternoon where the kidnappers have directed $150,000 in ransom to be paid.

It was revealed that a note left at the Labatt residence directed that Hugh Labatt go to Toronto, secure the money and wait for instructions. The note was signed "Three-Fingered Abe."

Labatt disappeared this morning on an automobile trip from Sarnia to London. The note, it was said, was delivered to the Labatt home on Central Avenue. It was directed where the car could be found and contained a threat against the kidnapped man if the police were informed. It gave the family twenty-four hours to pay the ransom.

It was reported a note was found pinned inside the car which demanded $150,000 ransom and threatened harm to the wealthy brewery head if news of the kidnapping was made public.

It was known that Mr. Labatt left the residence of Harry P. Holland, ten miles north of here, this morning and the finding of his car in London left police with no doubt that the kidnapping had occurred.

A telephone call to the Labatt residence was the first intimation the family had of the kidnapping. A man's voice told where the car could be found. When he was asked "who's calling," he shut off.

Mr. Labatt, the former Betsy Lynch of Ottawa, left this afternoon for Sarnia.

Mr. Labatt, who is between fifty-five and sixty years of age, is a prominent member of London society and well-known as a horseman. He broke a leg seven years ago in an accident, and has limped ever since. He was married seven years ago and has three small children.

Ontario Hydro Deal Inquiry

R. T. Jeffrey Giving Evidence on Abitibi Power, Against Hudson Bay Scheme

Canada Press
Toronto, Aug. 14.—Disapproval of arrangements by which the Ontario Hydro-electric Power Commission bought power from the Hudson Bay Power Company in 1925, was expressed by R. T. Jeffrey, chief municipal engineer for the hydro, who was chief witness at the "Abitibi Deal" inquiry to-day.

Mr. Jeffrey's evidence all related to the period prior to the launching of the power development scheme of Abitibi Canyon. With other hydro engineers, he said he had mapped out a comprehensive plan for the long term development of electric power in northern Ontario by stages. They had found the power sites of the Mississippi River the most economical prospect for immediate development.

Although on instructions of P. A. Gaby, chief hydro engineer, he had signed a memorandum recommending the purchase of 100,000 horsepower from the Hudson Bay Power Company to be developed at Abitibi Canyon, Mr. Jeffrey did not approve of it.

Not Seeking War and Desires Trade, Says Envoy

"Japan, as everyone knows is a very small country for her great population, and as for a natural resource she is in a very poor country. She believes that she has the right of existence," stated Hon. K. Inabata, prominent business leader of Osaka, and a member of the Japanese House of Peers, who reached Victoria this morning aboard the St. Empress of Japan on his way to Europe on a diplomatic mission for his country.

"We in Japan desire peace. We do not want to fight for our existence," Mr. Inabata continued, with the aid of an interpreter. "But the only way to hold our existence is to sell our goods to foreign nations. We get the raw material for our manufactured goods from these foreign countries and expect them to buy our goods in return. That is only a fair thing. We buy much more from Canada than Canada buys from us. We want Canada and all foreign people to understand our problems."

There is talk in every country about Japan, Mr. Inabata said. In that country there is very little talk of war. The Japanese people want peace and friendship with the world in general, and Canada and the United States in particular, he said, because that friendship is to the benefit of all concerned.

HEPBURN DEMANDS MONETARY REFORM

WANTS JAPAN UNDERSTOOD

Associated Press
Geneva, Aug. 14.—The governing commission of the Saar region—where a plebiscite will be held in January to determine whether it shall become French or German territory or remain under the control of the League of Nations—to-day informed the League it needs at least 2,000 additional foreign police to maintain order.

The commission declared the situation in the Saar had become so much worse that it was beyond control. It asked that the additional officers of the law be recruited in foreign countries, recommending that they be appointed from countries which are members of the League and in which the German language is spoken.

The commission requested the president of the League Council approach various countries, one of which, it was assumed, would be Switzerland, on the subject of furnishing additional police.

The commission alleged the Saar gendarmes are maintaining the regular relation with the German secret police and their impartiality and activities are being undermined. It said it doubted the possibility of increasing the local police force by recruiting in the Saar.

The commission said it had been able to maintain its authority in the Saar thus far largely because of the Council's resolution empowering it to call upon troops stationed on the frontier for aid and this statement was regarded as an allusion to the possibility that it could request the aid of French troops in the event of serious disorders.

STYRIA REVOLT LEADER FINED

A. Apold, Steel Works Director. Must Pay $70,000 to Austrian Government

Associated Press
Vienna, Aug. 14.—Because the Austrian government considers him largely responsible for the Nazi revolt in the province of Styria, Anton Apold, director of the Montan Steel Works, has been ordered to pay approximately $70,000 to the government. The Montan works are controlled by German interests.

An announcement stated the money claimed of Apold will cover partially the cost of special security measures necessitated by the putsch in the province, and will compensate in a measure for damage caused by terrorism. To insure payment, some of Apold's property has been confiscated.

Power companies on the Canadian side of the gorge continued to operate to-day without interruption or decreased efficiency.

The inquiry will be into the claims of the province of Alberta for further compensation respecting administration and control of its natural resources, now under the jurisdiction of the province.

Stress Margin Of Profit On Wheat

Necessity of Government Measures Urged Before International Wheat Conference; Drought Will Reduce Surplus

By Albert W. Wilson, Associated Press Foreign Staff
London, Aug. 14.—That necessity still exists for government measures to bring wheat farmers a satisfactory margin of profit was stressed at the opening session to-day of the International Wheat Conference.

A review of the current situation disclosed that the wheat "diplomat" expects the 1,000,000,000-bushel glut of world stocks will be considerably alleviated as a result of the universal drought. This estimate will cut surplus production this year to 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels.

His decapitated and mutilated body was found by Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers today. AGRICULTURE IN London, Aug. 14.—Agriculture in Great Britain gained in volume but lost somewhat in the value of its products in 1933, the Minister of Agriculture announced today. The wheat crop was the largest ever harvested, amounting to 500,000 tons, 48 per cent higher than in 1932. Wheat acreage totaled 1,600,000, almost as much as existed before the war and 379,000 acres more than in 1932. Wheat made the best showing both in volume and quality. The wool clip produced almost 3,000,000 pounds less than in 1932, but this decline was more than compensated by wool derived from slaughtering animals and the total production reached 80,000,000 pounds, an increase of 1,000,000 over 1932.

"AN EYE TO THE FUTURE - AN EAR TO THE GROUND"

—this describes General Motors' policy, a policy by which the public is given what it wants in better cars year after year, and yet is safely protected against ill-timed or dubious experiments

Not what one man thinks—but What the Public Wants

GENERAL MOTORS PRODUCTS

GENERAL MOTORS
 PRODUCTS OF CANADA LIMITED
 A PUBLIC-MINDED INSTITUTION

All General Motors cars and trucks may be purchased on convenient terms through GMAC, General Motors' own time-payment plan.

OUR exchange of views with more than 60,000 Canadian motorists has impressed on us the folly of building motor cars to a formula.

In developing our engineering programs, and our selling programs, we prefer to get all the facts, then apply them with an open mind.

Scores of new inventions and new designs are born in the General Motors laboratories, and tested on the General Motors Proving Ground, each year. Those that are sound are submitted to the public itself — through our annual Customer Questionnaires — for the public's own suggestions and approval.

And, when two solutions to the same engineering problem prove sound and dependable, we prefer to offer both in our different lines of cars and trucks. Thus we encourage engineering achievement and provide a choice of proved designs.

We believe that when you give the public freedom of choice you lay a sure foundation for improvement and progress. And we believe that every motorist who considers the company back of the car he buys, prefers to deal with this kind of open-minded — and public minded — organization.

Nova Scotia Forced Into Confederation

Undue Influence Used By Imperial Government, Says Prof. N. Rodgers in Brief to Royal Commission

Halifax, Aug. 14.—The historical background of Nova Scotia with relation to confederation yesterday occupied the attention of a royal commission inquiring into the province's economic status.

"The evidence is abundant and conclusive that the imperial government used all the insolence at its command to bring about the union," declared Prof. Norman Rodgers of Queen's University, in his brief prepared for the provincial government. "The motives behind this policy need not be brought into question," he added. "The fact remains that the imperial government played a decisive role in the manoeuvres which brought Nova Scotia into the Canadian federation against the wishes and sentiment of the great majority of its inhabitants and without an opportunity being afforded them to render a decision in accordance with their own conception of their obligations and interests as a self-governing community under the British Crown."

Nova Scotia could not subscribe to the view that the British North America Act is alterable only by the unanimous consent of the provinces and the Dominion through their legislatures, declared Prof. Rodgers in the first chapter of his voluminous brief on "Dominion-provincial relations and the fiscal disabilities of Nova Scotia."

"If this statute did purport to rest upon or embody the terms of an agreement with the other provinces, such an agreement might be impugned by Nova Scotia on various grounds upon which contracts are ordinarily nullified in a court of law," stated the brief. "There was undue influence, if not duress, applied by the imperial government at a critical stage of the negotiations. There was no prior authorization of agents to conclude a binding agreement with representatives of the other provinces."

The commission, headed by Prof. J. H. Jones of Leeds University, England, offered no comment or questions during the reading. Dr. Alexander Johnston, native Nova Scotian, and former deputy minister of marine, and Dr. H. A. Innis, professor of economic geography at Toronto University, are associated with Prof. Jones in the inquiry.

ALBERTA CHILD

Thirteen-year-old Girl Is Youngest on Record in Province Last Year

Canadian Press
 Edmonton, Aug. 14.—A bridegroom of seventy-four with a bride of eighteen; ten brides under sixteen; three mothers who have borne their third child when but sixteen years old; two men who married when they were more than eighty years old, are some of the highlights of a report compiled from the vital statistics records of Alberta. The province has the highest marriage rate in the Dominion and the highest birthrate west of Quebec.

Englishmen are still the greatest progenitors, followed by Ukrainians and Germans. Alberta does not follow the majority, for November proved the popular month in which to be married. Alberta boys apparently do not care to assume marital duties as readily as do the girls, for while there were only seventy-six grooms, under the age of twenty-one, no less than 1,416 girls of a total of 5,054 became brides before they reached their majority.

The youngest mother on record for the year was a girl of thirteen, and after her, five girls of fourteen gave birth to infants. None of these girls were married. The report points out that illegitimacy has decreased by 8 per cent during the year.

Public Works Would Absorb Large Portion Of B.C. Employables

Exclusive of Transients and Unemployable Persons, Relief List Narrows Down to Group Which Could Be Given Jobs By Government and Municipal Undertakings, Minister Believes: Reason For Re-registration

In spite of the large number on British Columbia relief lists, if normal public works were undertaken by the government and municipalities of the province, most of the unemployed British Columbia citizens who are able to work would find employment, according to Hon. George A. Pearson, Minister of Labor.

Mr. Pearson emphasized that the list of the unemployed should not include the transients, medically unfit and unemployable who comprise a big proportion of those registered for relief.

government alone had contracted its expenditures on public works since 1929 by $4,000,000 or $5,000,000. As a matter of fact in the boom days the expenditures in this direction were around $10,000,000 a year, and for many years previous ran from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000. Now the appropriation is $1,250,000 approximately.

GOVERNMENT PAYROLLS ELIMINATED

The elimination of these expenditures has cut out one form of employment which paid a substantial payroll. Municipal administrations have made similar reductions in their works appropriations and altogether the number of jobs taken off the relief market in this way is considerable.

One of the federal cabinet ministers has been quoted as saying industrial employment in British Columbia is 90 per cent of the 1929 level, so it may be assumed that with government public works expenditures restored to normal and a new deal on transients, British Columbia would about break the back of the unemployment problem.

WORKERS WANTED

That is the underlying idea of the provincial government's appeal to Ottawa for help in an ordinary works programme. Also it is the reason for Mr. Pearson's continued plea for federal action on the transient question.

"I have said, and I repeat, declared Mr. Pearson, 'that we cannot solve our unemployment problem until a policy for transients is adopted by the federal authorities. As long as families can come here from other provinces and go on relief it is like pouring water through a sieve.'

STIMULATING EMPLOYMENT

Mr. Pearson also announced further details of his employment stimulation plan, to be handled at the outset by Hamilton, Ontario, a member of the Board of Review. In addition to establishing a direct contact between employers of labor and those who desire jobs, Mr. Pearson will carry out personal investigations of the employment opportunities in different sections of the province. One of the objects will be to discover whether those drawing relief are making the most of their opportunities for finding jobs.

Next year, when an appropriation can be made, the government may go to the extent of setting up an employment bureau definitely divorced from the "unemployment" department. Such a bureau would have the specific work of finding jobs, and, if possible, promoting openings for them.

DEAL WITH MUNICIPALITIES

The government also has another matter of concern to settle on its relief policy. Since Ottawa has decided to make a lump sum grant per month to the provinces for relief, the old system of the Dominion, province and municipalities contributing on a cost-sharing basis to pay for it will have to go into the discard.

Some of the municipalities, it was learned, favor the province adopting a lump sum grant system toward them. The amount would be determined upon the number of unemployed within each district.

Out of the proposed provincial works programme, $1,000,000 would be devoted to municipal projects.

BOARD OF REVIEW TO START

As the re-registration of all applicants for aid was proceeding, preparations were made at the Parliament Buildings for the Board of Review set up by Mr. Pearson to begin functioning.

This board will consider the thousands of applications made by individuals, along with the reports of investigators in each case, and then will decide whether the person is entitled to relief and how much he shall have. Up to the present time, allowances have continued on the old basis, but the changes will come when the board commences work.

There has been, it is understood, a slight falling-off in the number applying for relief under the re-registration as compared with the previous month, but this may be nothing more than the seasonal drop at this time of year. It will take several weeks more for the board to go through all the applications and decide eligibility of the applicants.

TRIBUTE PAID R. T. WILLIAMS

Deep appreciation of the city's loss in the death Saturday of Alderman R. T. Williams was expressed by his colleagues on the City Council yesterday evening before they paid tribute to their former fellow-worker's memory with a standing vote.

In a nicely-worded resolution, Alderman John A. Worthington voiced the council's feeling for the aged worker, whose efforts on behalf of the citizens had been so intimately associated with the political and municipal life of Victoria.

The resolution included a sincere vote of condolence to the bereaved family.

Alderman J. D. Hunter seconded the resolution, adding his words of praise on the activities of the pioneer Victorian who had been so intimately associated with the political and municipal life of Victoria.

He mentioned various projects the late alderman had supported and referred to the force of character and spirit of friendship shown by Alderman Williams.

His death had been like that of a relation to Alderman Walter Loney, that member of the council said before reviewing his early acquaintance with the deceased.

Although they had not always agreed on policies, they had been firm friends when meetings had been concluded, Alderman James Adam noted, speaking of the freedom from shadow that was part of the late alderman's character.

COUNCIL SEAT LEFT VACANT

No By-election to Be Called By City Council to Fill Post on Board

The council chair occupied until recently by the late Alderman R. T. Williams and draped yesterday evening in black crepe in memory of the departed alderman, will remain vacant until the next general civic elections.

Decision to take that stand was reached by the City Council at its meeting yesterday evening. The council did not support a motion introduced by Alderman F. R. Brown to call a by-election on Saturday, August 25, preferring to leave to the citizens the right to appeal to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council for a warrant calling upon the council to set a date for nominations.

That action was taken following the reading of a letter from H. S. Fringie, city solicitor, setting out the council's obligations in the matter. The communication pointed out clauses in the Municipal Elections Act, which called upon the council to hold a by-election when a post came vacant, but none to penalty was attached to failure to meet this clause. It was shown that if the council did not take that course any dissatisfied citizen could appeal to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to issue a warrant to the city. Issuance of such a warrant through that channel was optional, however.

OUT OF PLACE

Alderman Andrew McGavin, who supported the motion of Alderman Brown in order to bring the matter up for discussion, expressed the view that was out of place at present. He would gamble, he said, that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council would not interfere in the question for a matter of four months. If the costs of a by-election could be saved, they should be, he maintained. Alderman Walter Loney agreed with Alderman McGavin, noting there was very little more to be done by the council during the remainder of the late Alderman Williams' term.

His stand was reiterated by Alderman J. D. Hunter, who stated he firmly believed the people of Victoria would concur in the action.

Alderman Brown's motion was put and defeated.

"The question is finished now," Mayor David Leeming commented, adding the council would not meet for another two weeks, which would be beyond the time when they had power, under the Municipal Elections Act, to call a by-election.

AUDITORIUM ASKED HERE

Suited For City If Works Programme Put Through, Council Feels

A large auditorium which could be adapted for indoor sports and amusements in the way of badminton, basketball, ice hockey, bicycle racing, pageants, band concerts, hand conventions, festivals of all kinds, indoor track and field meets, conventions, etc., would be the most suitable project the federal government could undertake for Victoria if funds were forthcoming for a works programme, the city council decided yesterday evening in endorsing a recommendation of the executive of the public works committee submitted at the council meeting.

"It is recommended, therefore, that the Dominion Government be asked to provide a sum of $500,000 for the construction of such a building, the construction of which will absorb a great deal of local labor and local products and after construction will be a real asset to the community and a constant source of employment to many people," the recommendation read.

In the preamble to the actual suggestion the executive of the public works committee reported as follows: "With reference to the request from the city council that this committee prepare a schedule of public works for Victoria, which would be suitable for construction in the event of any funds being made available in connection with the Dominion Government's proposed public works programme for the relief of unemployment."

"Our committee has given this subject a good deal of consideration and also conferred with representatives of other concerned organizations and men prominent in the public life of the city. It should be borne in mind that the city of Victoria has for years past supported a policy designed to attract tourists to this city and island and in view of the success already met with, this policy is being continued. With a large number of visitors in the city at all seasons of the year it is becoming more than ever necessary to have facilities for their entertainment and recreation. It is the opinion of the committee that if this community is to progress along natural lines and in the way it is undoubtedly most fitted, an absolute necessity to its development is a large auditorium.

The recommendation that the specific suggestions regarding the use that could be made of such a building.

Alderman John A. Worthington and Alderman James Adam spoke enthusiastically in favor of the project, the latter contending it was the one building Victoria needed.

Alderman Walter Loney drew attention to the suggested sum allotted to Vancouver and compared it with the minor amount promised Victoria.

Today's driving needs today's tire—"G3"

● Cars flashing from a standing start up to forty or fifty miles an hour . . . then SUDDENLY pulling up to a dead STOP . . . off like a shot again . . . around curves . . . in and out of tangled traffic . . . responsive always to the surging power of modern motors and the strength of modern brakes!

Think what punishment all that means for tires—tires on the new smaller wheels which grind against road surfaces at far higher speeds!

G-3 far more than takes care of the added-strain today's cars and today's traffic conditions put on tires.

Goodyear means GOOD wear.

Take a look at this bigger tire and its newly designed All-Weather tread. See the broader surface which contacts the road—the wider riding ribs (for silence)—the closer nesting of non-skid blocks (for safer traction).

G-3 promises you extra safety from skidding, extra protection against punctures and blowouts, and at least 25% extra tread wear . . . ALL AT NO EXTRA PRICE.

That's why G-3 popularity is sweeping the country. If you need tires go to your nearest Goodyear dealer and have him mount these handsome new tires which give you so much more for your money.

Goodyear means GOOD wear.

220,000 WILL ENTER SCHOOL

Dominion Bureau Estimates Number of Tots Starting This Fall

On request of the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has prepared an estimate of the number of children who will enter school for the first time with the opening of the fall term. No less than 220,000 little Canadians are to be welcomed to the schoolroom in the month of September.

As far as can be estimated, Quebec should lead the parade with 73,000 youngsters wending their way to the schools and convents, Ontario following closely with 61,000. Next comes Saskatchewan with 21,500, closely followed by her sister province of Alberta with 16,000 and Manitoba with 15,500. Nova Scotia with 10,000 and British Columbia with 10,000 are "neck and neck" with New Brunswick a good third with 8,000 children knocking at the classroom door. "The Island" (P.E.I.) provides a quota of 1,500.

REMEDIAL DEFECTS
Yet, the Canadian Council says, if the same incidence of remedial defects exists among these children that the Health Departments report for recent years, many will be handicapped in the school room before they start by remedial defects. Medical science avers that most of these defects could have been prevented and can still be corrected if knowledge that is already available is only used by parents and children.

The provincial health returns available give estimates of children varying from 50 per cent to 60 per cent, with mental defects in addition. This does not necessarily mean that the actual incidence of defects is highest in the west, or here any special significance in any one province; it may mean that the school health service of some areas, especially those with well-organized health departments, was more active in locating defects than others. It may mean that some have better pre-school health services than others and locate defects earlier. It may mean on the other hand that some of the health services are generally organized to place health examinations take place, and that consequently few defects are revealed.

REMEDIAL DEFECTS
The division on maternal and child hygiene of the Canadian Council is now making a special appeal to parents to co-operate with their provincial and local health authorities in giving their children a chance to start their school life, as free as possible from hampering defect or illness. All parents who have not already done so are urged to place their young children under the regular supervision of a physician, and especially to have children planning to enter school this autumn examined by a physician or dentist at once, with a view to having all remedial defects treated before the child enters school in September.

As part of this whole educational campaign, attention is drawn to the fact that any parent may have for the asking, from their provincial departments of health, or from the Council of Council House, Ottawa, a series of pre-school health cards, one of which deals especially with the care of the child during the first few weeks of his adjustment to school.

WATCH EVENTS IN FAR EAST

Canadian Press from Havana
London, Aug. 14.—Unrestiveness over the Far Eastern situation was marked in the British press today. Newspapers expressed satisfaction over the ending of a British economic mission to Manchukuo, but were less concerned with a more prominent place in the continent.

The News-Chronicle flatly stated Japan was working to remove all traces of Soviet influence from Manchukuo.

"For that reason she seeks to acquire entire control of the Eastern Chinese Railway," Elvira stated that the Japanese offer that the U.S.S.R. rejected was final. The Soviet press is preparing public opinion for grave consequences. Possession of the railway, or possession of Manchukuo and, however, the real cause of the difference between the two nations.

ANAKA PLAN
"Japan is trying to apply the Tanaka plan to create an Asiatic empire, including Manchukuo, Mongolia, China, Inner Turkestan and Russia," said Elvira. She had already said that there was no reason to believe that Japan would not extend to the India. The News-Chronicle stated that an influential part of Japanese opinion is in favor of a "preventive" in Manchuria. "It is hard to believe," it says, "that successive administrations imposed upon the Soviet administration of the railways have a deliberately provocative character."

Neither in the newspaper's opinion, will the Japanese suggest that the U.S.S.R. prepare to join the league and to form eastern pacts in order to have the hands free in the east, stand up under analysis.

DO NOT THRUST TOO MUCH RESPONSIBILITY ON CHILD

One rule of motherhood is that mothers must assume the responsibility for their children's safety and for carrying out training programmes. If the child is too young to be accountable for his safety, even if he has been told over and over again how dangerous his act will be, it is criminal negligence to make him responsible. Adults always find it a ready excuse for their acts to say, "I didn't know any better," and children should be accorded the same excuse. If a child is made the guardian of his safety when he is not old enough to know or understand the consequences of his acts the mother must suffer the penalty of his misbehavior.

The following is an apt illustration: "As a twenty-year-old mother, I have reached the limit of my endurance. My children are almost two and three years old and they present me with new problems daily."

REUNION
"We have a large back yard away from busy streets in which the children are allowed to run and play. They have a dog and many toys. Yet they insist upon running away every time my back is turned."

Friends consider me a good housekeeper and to live up to this reputation there is not much time left to go out and watch them every moment. Personally, I do not believe in having my eyes on them constantly. At first I tried accident and reasoning, then threatening. There was no improvement, so, as a last resort, we used spanking. "The children are not spoiled, have one and sometimes two naps daily, go to bed at 7 p.m. and are healthy in all respects. The older child has resorted to fainting. Lately when slapped on the hand she faints. It is not easy to bring her out of these spells and I have tried shaking her to bring her out. My mother says these spells will weaken her heart. On numerous occasions she has fainted three or four times in the last eighteen hours. Our life would be peaceful without this constant screaming and fainting."

BE A GOOD FIRST
Be proud of being a good mother than a good housekeeper. Your children are too young to remember not to run away, or else the motive for doing so is stronger than the motive to stay in the yard. Take them on walks away from home each day to offer them some satisfaction of this type. Otherwise when they are out, they should be watched and brought back promptly when they run away. No punishment of any kind is necessary. Simply say, "You are not to run away, or then the consequences of taking walks and bring them back when they do run away."

The fainting is not voluntary and may indicate serious conditions. It should not be treated as anything but a medical problem. Send for your doctor. "What Shall the Parents Do Instead of Spank?"

Says Man-bossed Wedding Best

Canadian Press
New York, Aug. 14.—Marriages in which the wife boss go on the rocks more often than those in which the male dominates, Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the Institute of Family Relations, reported recently after a survey of 3,000 married couples.

"Partnerships in which the husband and wife are on a 50-50 basis have the best chance," Dr. Popenoe said. "They turn out well 87 per cent of the time—but they are an almost hopelessly unreliable ideal, even for most college people."

Of the man-bossed marriages studied, 61 per cent were reported successful. The success rate fell to 57 per cent in cases where Madame was the head of the house.

An interesting sidelight on the research conducted under the professor's direction was that quarrelling over family finances was a universal complaint in homes from which happiness was found to have fled.

MARY PICKFORD TO MEET DOUG

But Will Not Confirm Reports of Pending Reconciliation

Associated Press

Pasadena, Aug. 14.—Mary Pickford disclosed upon her arrival here from Chicago that she will meet her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks, in Hollywood soon, but she asserted she "probably will have less to say concerning my domestic affairs following that conference than I have now."

Miss Pickford would neither confirm nor deny reports of a pending reconciliation nor would she comment on the nature of her forthcoming conference with the athletically-inclined motion picture star.

Fairbanks now is en route from Europe to New York aboard the Italian liner Rex.

Concerning her domestic affairs, Miss Pickford said she felt the "last said about the entire matter, the better."

RECEIVES PUBLICITY
"In fact I regret the public has seen fit to become so highly interested in the matter," Miss Pickford declared.

Although both members of the motion picture colony's foremost family were known to be Hollywood residents, it had not previously been definitely revealed that they would meet in the film capital.

Miss Pickford's disclosure was made in a somewhat roundabout manner in answer to a question as to what were the possibilities of a reconciliation.

"I predict I will have even less to say about my domestic affairs following my forthcoming conference with Mr. Fairbanks than I have now," the actress replied.

HAD TELEPHONE CALL
Miss Pickford disclosed also she had received a telephone call from Fairbanks in Paris before he sailed for the United States. She said she also talked with his brother, Robert, and Joseph M. Schenck, motion picture producer who is en route to New York on the same boat with Fairbanks.

The actress declined to disclose the nature of the conversation.

Miss Pickford alighted from her train here and was besieged by a group of early rising autograph seekers. Several relatives also were on hand to greet her, including six-year-old Hugh Charif, a son of Mrs.

PUNISHED HER BABY BY FIRE

Associated Press

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 14.—A mother who punished her six-year-old daughter with fire was free today because of the intervention of the child.

Miss Pickford said she was shocked to hear of the suicide last week of George Hill, motion picture director. "He had that human, intimate touch that made him truly great," she said.

KIPPER BETTER THAN CAVIAR

Sir Chas. Higham Also Claims Bread More Nutritious Than Soup

Canadian Press

London, Aug. 14.—A twopenny kipper has infinitely more food value than two shillings' worth of caviar. Expensive foods more frequently make for fatness than fitness.

There are two points made by Sir Charles Higham, who has recently been collecting information as to how price relates to the nutritive value of foods. "My conclusion," said Sir Charles in an interview, "is that bread—the cheapest of all foods—heads the list of nutritive foods."

"Many well-meaning people do not realize this fact. The unemployed are often fed on soups, but, as Dr. Hare of Lincoln pointed out just recently, this soup has no nutritive value at all, and even a plateful of 'thick, nourishing soup,' made from peas or potato, is only equivalent to half a slice of bread."

Sir Charles Higham's conclusion is that price bears no relation to food value. He quoted Professor Mottram, the authority on dietetics, who says: "It is the demands of the palate which cost most—not those of the body's requirements."

"Suppose, for example, we wish to buy fuel for the body—we may buy it as bread at 3 cents per 1,000 calories or as an American breakfast cereal at about 16 cents per 1,000. The effect as regards warming the body and supplying building materials is almost certainly the same."

SKYWARD TREND IN RESTAURANTS

Canadian Press

New York, Aug. 14.—The skyward trend continues. Six big companies have private dining-rooms on the sixty-fourth floor of Rockefeller Centre, and in the financial district most big buildings have luncheon clubs under the roof. The Cloud Club in the Chrysler Building is always full of midtown magnates. And they are installing a club atop the Rockefeller skyscraper. John D. Jr. drops in occasionally to see how things are getting on.

SOCIALITES NOW FLOCK TO STAGE

New York, Aug. 14.—More than ever, socialites flocking to the stage. Sally Gibson, daughter of George Gibson, the novelist, sings in "Life Begins at 8:40." Instantly, she is also a dancer and an author. . . . Mrs. Albert C. Davis has a minor role in "The Red Cat." . . . Mary (Daughter of Bertram) Taylor is heading a part. So is Honora Bruns, the bank president's daughter who quit college for the theatre.

Philadelphia's Mary Holman will be on Broadway. Clare Booth Luce has written a play, and Rosemond Fitch is setting it. To Hollywood goes George Raft, the blue-blooded double for George Raft. . . . Hendrik Willem Van Loon is using the income of William Gerard, a dancing in the new Shubert revue. . . . In Paul Whiteman's new quartette are the son of a high official of the Mormon Church and the son of a Methodist minister.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1934

Basic aspects dominate strongly today, according to astrology. The planetary government is stimulating in mind and body and encourages optimism.

Merchants and manufacturers have the best planetary influences to guide them, but they may be puzzled and misled to be too cautious to enter the new stages within reach.

The rule of the planets is favorable to bankers, who will be more interested in money-lending than they have been for many months. Real estate and mortgages will take on a more desirable aspect.

Again, a speculative spirit may assert itself. In some ventures, making money will be profitable and new discoveries of ore may cause excitement.

The young will be inclined toward extravagance. It is forecast and out-of-doors may be more common than usual. It is well for boys and girls to know that the future holds before them many exciting economic problems.

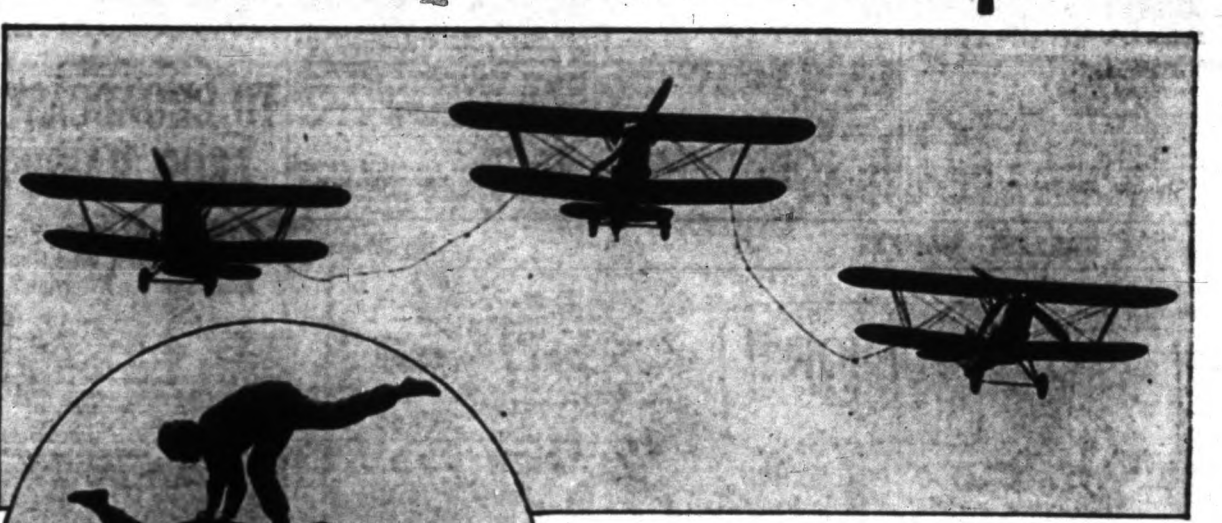

The evening of this day promises good news for industry. Workers come under a fortunate planetary direction and widespread labor difficulties will be settled.

Persons whose birthdays it is to have the sign of a year of progress and prosperity. Such persons will gain in health as well as wealth.

Children born on this day probably will be of an unusual type, for subjects of this sign often have an extraordinary consciousness of their extraordinary powers.

Walter Crane, novelist, and other writers, were born on this day, 1889, and John Ford, novelist, in 1894. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

MOIETY SYSTEM IS CONDEMNED

Injurious to Police Work, Says R.C.M.P. Commissioner

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 14.—Moiety cases—prosecutions from which prosecuting officers are entitled to part of the fine—are wrong and are injurious to police work. Moiety, as they apply to the individual police officer, should be eliminated.

These opinions were voiced yesterday by Major-General J. H. MacBrien, commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, here to carry out his annual inspection of "B" division.

General MacBrien condemned the moiety system. He explained, however, the individual R.C.M.P. officer did not share in proceeds from such cases, but that any share claimable was put in a general fund for the organization.

Officers might act with meticulous fairness and in the best interests of the law, but when a moiety was granted there was always the suggestion of persecution, said General MacBrien.

General MacBrien explained recruits from different provinces were taken in relation to the number of officers stationed in the province and that reason the province was producing the greatest number of men as the R.C.M.P. has replaced the provincial forces in that territory.

As head of the Aviation League, General MacBrien spoke enthusiastically of the progress of flying in Canada. He expects to see aviation come back strongly in the next few years and pointed to a recent trip of his own, which indicated the importance and significance of aviation in Canada. He had gone through the Arctic territory in three weeks, by air, whereas it would have taken two years by land.

General MacBrien leaves for the east to-day. He will pick up his own plane at Calgary, where he left it owing to smoke hazards over the Rockies from forest fires.

The general inspected the Vancouver force this morning, although he is suffering from an injury to his left leg sustained while diving off a raft on English Bay.

RECOVERS BABY HELD AS BOND

Associated Press
Jersey City, N.J., Aug. 14.—Mrs. Beatrice McNabey, twenty-three-year-old red-haired Baltimore cabaret entertainer, was reunited to-day with her two-year-old daughter, whom a North Bergen woman had held as security for the payment of a board bill.

Vice-chancellor John O. Biselov in chancery court ordered Mrs. Clara Gross to return the child to its mother and ruled he had no jurisdiction in the matter of the payment of the bill.

Mrs. Gross said the child had been in her care for fourteen months at $10 a week and that $330 was due her. Mrs. McNabey, whose professional name is Bea Baxter, said only $250 is due.

Married Flirts

What on earth had happened to him? He acted as though he were bewitched. Gypsy was fairly sick with fury. She had never known such a change of helplessness and anger. She hadn't known—hadn't dreamed or guessed—that being married made you feel like this! Meanwhile, here was Marko at her side.

"You beautiful thing," he was saying, lightly. "Isn't she a beautiful thing?" He demanded of them all.

CHAPTER VIII

The evening, on the whole, was far from being a success for Gypsy. She tried flirting mildly with Marko, just to make Tom angry. But it was a thankless business. She didn't really want to quarrel with Tom. The very thought of it turned her just a little sick. They had been so happy. What serpent had entered, so suddenly, into their little life?

It was one o'clock. It was two. It was three. And the music went on. The smoke gathered in clouds and the glasses were filled and emptied. He began to ache and her spirits flagged. Looking from one face to another, she wondered idly how they stood the night after night. Why, she was only twenty-two, strong, almost without nerves, and yet she tired of it quickly. Marko was tired, and his skin was stretched tight around his eyes. He seemed unsteady. He must have unexpected stores of strength to draw upon. Marko, reflected Gypsy, was rather wonderful!

At three-thirty (and how Gypsy blessed her for it!) young Mrs. Wilford said they must go there was something about an early start on the morrow. They were going south to Springs. The party began to disintegrate.

Gypsy's own farewells to her hostess were the hollowest of polite lies. She hadn't enjoyed herself at all. She was tired to death, she was almost ill with annoyance at Tom and jealousy of Hilda Blanchard. She was a little ashamed of herself for her little flirtation with Marko.

And yet she said all the correct things. Jila must come to lunch with her downtown—soon. Oh, she meant that, all right. Jila must come, she was gay and interested, friendly. Gypsy was almost speechless with fatigue when the taxi deposited them at their own door. Tom, who had been out without a word. Still silent, he unlocked the door and stood aside to let her into the dark apartment. Gypsy switched on the hall light, yawned, dropped her wrap into a chair. Then she hastily picked it up again. It was all very well for the ladies' daughters of the rich to behave so with their party clothes. As for her, she must take excellent care of the few she owned, because it would be a long time before she would be able to afford others.

When she came out of the bathroom, having scrubbed the heavy scent of tobacco smoke from her hands and face, she wrapped in her woolly robe. Tom was already waiting. His own things were neatly folded and laid out on a chair back. Tom, she reflected, was that rare bird, a tidy husband. At least, from all she had heard, such creatures were rare. She saw him, a brief inquiring glance and saw that he still wore the frock he'd adopted when he had left the others. Was Tom going to sulk? Oh, she hoped not. Gypsy, herself, could never harbor a grievance. She had been taught never to let the sun go down upon her anger.

As she brushed her hair, she could hear Tom's vigorous splashing. She let her glance rove around the little room and what she saw she inevitably contrasted with Lila's exotic boudoir. Involuntarily a sigh escaped her.

"Don't you feel well?" Tom was beside her.

"Just tired."

"He threw back the covers on his own bed. "Good night," he said, very formally. He kissed her coolly on

KEEP YOUR BABY'S SKIN FREE FROM IRRITATION

You Can Prevent Prickly Heat in Hot Weather by Bathing Child Often and Dusting With Talcum or Corn Starch

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Your baby's skin requires careful daily attention to keep it clear from prickly heat and other irritations. "Intertrigo" is the scientific term for a particularly irritating condition which occurs between the folds of the skin or where two skin surfaces are in contact. This occurs mostly in hot weather. Sometimes the irritation is due to wearing too much clothing. Nowadays, however, most parents have learned that it is quite satisfactory for the baby to go about in a bathing suit, a sun suit, or just a pair of overalls. Children are not bundled up as they used to be. Even with very light clothing, however, some children will develop rash on the skin. The ordinary heat rash is not serious. This may be treated by washing the skin with a mixture of one part vinegar and five parts water. The skin then is dried, powdered with ordinary clean talcum powder or powdered corn starch. If, however, the rash is more than just an ordinary heat rash, you should not try to treat it at home without advice of a physician.

Due to the fact that sunlight, many children nowadays are exposed to too much sun and their skins burn seriously. You should expose your child to the sun gradually, a minute or two back and forth the first day, gradually increasing the time up to five minutes front and back by the third or fourth day. After the sun is fairly well developed, the child may play about in the sunlight for longer periods.

You might try rubbing the skin with an oil, like olive oil or any of the oiling preparations recommended for the skin. This will permit the skin to become well tanned and capable of withstanding sunlight.

For too many city parents do not realize the danger of overexposure. They take the family along on a short vacation in the country or to the seashore and the children are badly burned the first day, so that the rest of the vacation is ruined.

Once upon a time bathing weekly or less frequently was also a custom. Now a day, at least a daily bath is recommended for most persons.

You need not be afraid of more frequent bathing during hot weather. A bath morning and evening with additional soaping and bathing during the day is helpful to keep cool, and will prevent skin irritations.

Rubbing with alcohol after the bath, and powdering all surfaces where there is irritation will serve to avoid prickly heat.

Sometimes it is difficult to sleep at night during the hot weather, and children become cross and irritable from lack of sleep. A daily nap in the open air protected by mosquito netting and umbrellas will serve to keep the child's temperature not even scale and avoid a good deal of irritation in the home.

RELIEF PROBLEM

To the Editor—May I through your letter column submit to your reading public a serious problem that has arisen in my case, owing to the rearranging of relief benefits?

The new ruling is that men who have not been resident in an area since before May, 1931, are classed as transients, hence, if physically fit are eligible for camp.

I have been in Victoria since December, 1931, and for some time have been receiving relief allowance. During the past few months, however, I have been medically fit for camp, and the doctors still are unable to pass me for camp. There is no compensation for the new system for sick men, and two weeks ago I was cut off entirely, with no allowance, and no ability to get out and earn a living. My mother is living here working as a housekeeper and is not in a position to help me.

I have interviewed all the officials, and all they suggest is that they will give me food allowance for five days, to be paid when I return to Alberta. If I did so, I would not be eligible for help there under the same ruling. What shall I do and others who are in the same predicament? Will some of your more influential readers take an interest in the sick men who are down and out, and approach the authorities to obtain assistance to get food and housing?

NEVER AGAIN

To the Editor—Like your correspondent, J. Pears, I also did not see the letter of "29th Battle." I am the more sorry that the letter, and I am an opposing idea, for that we have many times rubbed elbows—joshed, even, maybe softly cursed one another (if "29th" is an "original") in the St. Elmo and Sanctuary Wood "homes of rest." The 29th and 31st battalions were Tullivans in days gone by. I return to British Columbia from far climes and find in Victoria

—By WILLIAMS

It will be said: "The enemy would take batches of 100 and shoot them as an example." Possibly, even probably, but the enemy would not take such a large number. I seem to remember hundreds of thousands of my fellow smashed to bits with no chance of retaliation. It is doubtful that such massacre would continue (or be allowed to continue by the neutrals) for long. It is even more doubtful that children, very aged people, or invalids would be involved as they were in the war, and will be again, under "hit back" principles. As to women—why not? They are combatants equally with men if they assist in prosecution of armed resistance, therefore why not if assisting in unarmed resistance? Brutal? Admittedly, but why press the obvious reply?

The building, if he digests this properly, will have had a good meal, which is good for the system.

Good lucking who declare it is just "human nature," cannot conceal the

"O WAR, THOU SON OF HELL!"

To the Editor:—

"Curse to the man, and void of law and right."

Unhappy prey, unworthy light. Unfit for public rule, or private care—That wretch, that monster, who delights in war."

In answering Mr. Pears' scintillant whine of protest at my denunciation of war I have chosen for a caption a quotation from William Shakespeare and a verse from Pope's "Diss."

In the hope that he will observe that far greater minds than mine conceived even greater hatred for this diabolical form of lunacy, with far less cause, if any excuse is needed, than I refer him to Mr. Henderson's exhortation to all those who have any power of expression, either of pen or voice, to attempt continuously to destroy the glorification of war.

Mr. Pears should exercise more care in reading, and should not distort either the meaning or the facts of that which he attempts to criticize.

I have never mentioned "self-inflicted" casualties. There were many "casualties" that were not "wounds."

I have never sneered at men whom I have frequently referred to as "the enemy." I have never been in the habit of referring to them as "the enemy."

But I have stated that moral courage is of a higher standard and of greater value than physical courage.

If I did not admire Mr. Pears' grit in standing up for this whole rotten business of war, something he knows is wrong, I should not take the trouble to answer a letter so full of obvious foolishness.

Let us take, for instance, the doublet he casts on the "alleged" quotation from a French "officer's" diary. In the first place, I wrote "soldier," not "officer," and my authority is no less than Sir Philip Gibbs. I do not imagine any officer of any army could stop such things as described therein—quite apart from the fact that it is unimportant in war, how you kill, so long as you do kill—then his own experience must have been, to say the least, somewhat short-sighted.

"Draculism," conduct, indeed! I bet: Why, Dracula was a babe in arms compared to the inventor of mustard gas or the flame-thrower. You cannot humanize war, Mr. Pears, any more than you can christianize it. Modern war makes Dante's "Inferno" read like a bedtime story. Out then into your head, and if my "bloody" quotations get under your skin also, why, so much the better! You cannot dress war up in any other cloth but scarlet. Blood—that is the hallmark! Death—that is the password! Hell on earth—that is the truth! King and country—that is the slogan!

All the pious wables, all the catchlike antics of those who do not want to believe the words of these dangerous, cunning liars, who declare it is just "human nature," cannot conceal the

"There is really no loyalty or unity in all of China, although there is a certain amount of Sun Yat Sen, but that does not go very far," declared Commissioner B. Bennett, head of Salvation Army in China, who reached Victoria this morning from Peking, where he has been on a tour of inspection of his way across Canada to attend the high session of the Salvation Army at the end of this month.

Only the Chinese people could together, it would be for the good of the country, the commissioner said. "If they could work together for the good but it seems they are not. I am sure China would be ahead and become a great power if there were a little unity among her people."

Defending Grand Champion in Seniors' Golf Falls Before Paul Murphy, Portland. After Great Struggle; J. E. Wilson is Eliminated

Defeat of W. H. Abbott, Bellingham, defending grand champion, and yesterday's medalist, at the twenty-second hole, by Paul C. Murphy, Portland, Ore., featured the first round of match play to-day in the Seniors' Northern Golf Association tournament at the Colwood Golf Club. After his sparkling 77 yesterday Abbott was a heavy favorite to win his second straight title. To-day's first round also saw the defeat of J. E. Wilson, only Victorian in the grand championship, at the hands of E. L. Mann, Wenatchee, 1 up.

In the battle between Abbott and Murphy the pair were still on even terms on the eighteenth hole. On the home green Abbott missed an eighteen-inch putt for a four and halved the hole in five to leave the match all even and force the match into extra holes. At both the nineteenth and twentieth holes Murphy made wonderful recoveries to gain halve. At the twenty-first Murphy was away off the fairway with his drive but recovered well and when Abbott dubbed his second gained a half in six.

The short twenty-second saw Murphy place his drive ten feet from the pin while Abbott was at the edge of the water. Murphy got down in four putts to win the hole and the match.

WANT INQUIRY ON FREE PORT

City Council Endorses Move to Have Question Investigated by Authorities

The City Council yesterday evening endorsed a move to have the proper authorities thoroughly investigate suggestions that the city may still claim the rights of a free port when that question was raised by Alderman John A. Worthington.

In the course of the debate, Alderman Worthington pointed to the benefits that had accrued to Hamburg through the special prerogatives it enjoyed as a free port and suggested this city might benefit greatly if it were determined Victoria had the same rights.

Alderman J. D. Hunter said the city's rights along those lines had been annulled some time ago by special ordinances and mandates, but declared himself in favor of Alderman Worthington's move for an investigation.

Other members of the council endorsed the inquiry move.

During the meeting a brief was read from Col. T. B. Monk regarding the city's claims for special rights as a free port and declaring they had not been properly taken away from it.

"The Curfew Will Not Ring To-night"

Old Bell Tower, Once Used to Summon Firemen, Dismantled in City Hall Clean-up.

"The curfew shall not ring to-night"—the any other future evening from the old tower atop the southwest corner of the City Hall. The historic cupola in its many housed the bell which rang the curfew and at an earlier date summoned volunteer fire-fighters to their stations in the late evenings, was virtually demolished to-day.

That was but part of extensive work being conducted on the City Hall for the first time in years. The clock tower has for some time claimed wide attention for its new coat of aluminum paint, put on to save the metal work.

To-day painters started to apply a new coat of cream paint, selected by the Mayor, to the outside walls grown dull from neglect.

Inside new public conveniences were being erected in the old building, when its overhaul has been completed, will stand forth boldly again to challenge those seeking its relation in favor of a new civic centre.

SUN GREATEST POWER PLANT

Gordon Shaw Addresses Students at Astronomical Society Meeting

"The sun is the greatest known power plant, radiating 70,000 horsepower from every square yard of its surface," stated Gordon Shaw, Opt.D., in his address last night before a large class of students at Victoria College.

The meeting opened the second half of series of "Evenings With the Stars" given by the local branch of the Royal Astronomical Society.

Of this great expenditure of energy the Earth gets only one part in twenty-two hundred million. The sun was shown to be the ultimate source of all heat, light and mechanical energy. A description of the sun's structure was amplified by numerous lantern slides, which showed in detail the formations of sun-spots, their vertical nature and their periodic distribution over the sun's surface. The speaker declared a new cycle of sun-spots which averages eleven and one-eighth years had just begun.

"Although we call these dark areas sunspots they are often larger enough to accommodate several earths," the speaker commented.

Mr. Shaw classified the sun as a star of the G type, of 6,000 degrees surface temperature, with internal temperatures going to millions of degrees. He stressed the importance of the spectroscopic and allied instruments in solar investigation, showing how the same elements found on earth were known to be in the sun, but in gaseous form. Slides and descriptions of the sun's prominences showed that great fountains of flaming gas, extending hundreds of thousands of miles from the sun's surface were composed largely of hydrogen and helium.

In his closing remarks Mr. Shaw paid tribute to patient perseverance of the professional astronomers and physicists and pointed out the fortunate position of Victoria having at hand the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory and the privilege of hearing its men and women who were eminent in the world of astronomical science.

Keen interest in the lecture was evidenced by the number of questions asked at its close.

Under the leadership of Miss Riddell, the audience spent an hour outdoors learning to place some of the constellations and brighter stars in the sky and to use the double star refractor, made locally by two brothers, L. F. and R. D. Hopkins, 1108 Pandora Avenue, and lent by them for the occasion.

H. Boyd Bryden presided at the meeting.

BAPTIST Y.P.C.
The Douglas Street Y.P.C. had as their guests on Saturday the Y.P.C. of the Calvary Baptist Church, Chemainus. After doing justice to this, they, in company with the Douglas Street society, drove to Cordova Bay and were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. F. Humphries at their summer camp. A softball game was played between the two societies, the visitors winning by a narrow margin. A sing-song around a bonfire and a corn boil helped to bring to a close a most enjoyable day.

B.C. Golfers Set Record In Victory

Slice Single Stroke Off Aggregate Mark in Capturing Interprovincial Team Championship With Total of 596; Ontario Places Second

Laval-sur-La-Loe Golf Club, Quebec, Aug. 13.—Inter-provincial team golf championship of Canada to-day still remained safely in possession of British Columbia. Over the stiffly bunkered fairways and greens of this famous links yesterday the Pacific Coast province's squad of four young golfers, Bob Morrison, Victoria, and Ken Black, Stan Leonard and Dick Moore of Vancouver, retained the coveted Williamson Trophy, won by the B.C. team for the first time last year at Vancouver. The victorious team was again captained by Jack Macdonald, president of the B.C. Golf Association, and leader of the B.C. team in every inter-provincial series to date.

The British Columbia players had an aggregate of 596 for the thirty-six holes to slice one shot off the record for the competition.

ONTARIO SECOND

Four points behind was the Ontario team, who led at the halfway mark. The Quebec team was third, with an aggregate of 609; Manitoba, fourth, with 625, and Alberta in last place with 644. Facing with a three-point deficit at the halfway mark, the British Columbia team got hot in the afternoon round, swept Ontario from the leadership and coasted to an easy victory.

Ken Black, Vancouver ace of a famous golfing family, the last man out, came through with a 71 to equal per and clinch the cup for his team. The Ontario team went to pieces on the last eighteen holes, three putting themselves out of the competition. Standy Silverman, four times winner of the Canadian amateur and once of the American amateur, played spitting golf with two rounds of 73, the almost everything wrong, including missing a five-inch putt on the home green.

DISASTROUS EIGHTY

Don Carick, hard-hitting Toronto boy, who held the Canadian title in 1925 and 1927, took a disastrous 80 on the last eighteen, after a sound 73 in the morning. His short game went to pieces, despite an hour on the practice green during the lunch hour. Phil Farley, Ontario amateur titleholder, played steady golf with 72 and 76. Fred Hobbitt, the Toronto veteran, was the second man on his team with 74 and 76.

Black, the soft-spoken, broad-shouldered youth of twenty-two, who went to the final round of the Canadian event last year, led the British Columbia team with 148. The "veteran" of the team, D. Moore, twenty-six, had 147. Stan Leonard, the baby of the team, twenty years old, had 148, and Bob Morrison, twenty-five, had 150.

The British Columbia team not only won the golfing competition, but they won the sartorial, too. Each wore a white sweater with a black and gold crest. No other teams attempted a distinctive color design.

THREE EQUAL PAR

Three times during the day par for the course, 71, was equaled, but it was without the long hammering, Black and Leonard of British Columbia were joined by Bob Proctor of Alberta in the lowest rounds of the day. Black and Leonard of Montreal and Ted Jones of Montreal had the lowest aggregates of the day, 146. Black was more spectacular, with rounds of 71 and 75, but the Montreal veteran, a former Quebec amateur titleholder, was consistent with two 79's.

Quebec and Ontario were thrown out of the competition by the startling form reversal of Carick and Corrigan.

Manitoba and Alberta were never in the hunt. Their two men, Bud Donovan, Winnipeg, and Bob Proctor, Edmonton, were very much in the running in the morning rounds, when Donovan won one over, but on the 72. The pace was too hot for them to maintain, Donovan adding a 76 and the youthful Proctor skyrocketing his total with an 85.

Don E. L. Patenaude, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, presented the silver cup to Jack Matson, non-player.

LACROSSE IS SHOWING GAIN

Box Code Gaining Popularity By Leaps and Bounds in Eastern Canada

Toronto, Aug. 14.—Lacrosse in Ontario is enjoying its biggest boom within the last fifteen years. Fred A. Waghorne, president of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association, declared yesterday.

"With the exception of Toronto, all games are drawing capacity crowds and the game has been taking on like wildfire in all series," said Waghorne, who heads the association for the second successive year.

All teams with the exception of a few in the minor series are playing box lacrosse. The Ontario association, which has thirteen senior teams, expects to declare a winner by October 1, to play the Quebec champions in Montreal October 5 in a sudden-death game for the eastern Canada title.

The winner will meet the western Canada champions in a three-out-of-five series of box lacrosse for the Mann Cup and the Canadian championship. The final series will be played either at Montreal or Toronto.

THREE SENIOR LEAGUES

Ontario has three senior leagues, eastern, central and western. The three first teams in each league will play off for the group championship. The group winners will then play off for the Ontario title. At present three teams are bunched at the top of the western section. Hamilton and Mimico are tied for first place, with Pergus following closely. The other two teams are out of contention. In the central group the fight is between Orillia, Mount Dennis and Toronto Oakwood, with Toronto Malvern Grads definitely out. Cornwall Island Indians are leading the eastern section with Alexandria and Cornwall following. Cornwall Celtic, is given little chance to get into the playoffs.

DOUBLE WINNERS AT EMPIRE GAMES

These two girls put up brilliant performances at the British Empire Games in London to capture two titles each. Marjorie Clark (left) of South Africa won the women's high jump and then captured the eighty meters hurdles event in the new British record time of 11.8 seconds. She won the 100-yard sprint in 11.3 seconds, came back to score a great win in the 220-yard event in the British record time of 25 seconds, and also was a member of the victorious English team in the 440-yard relay final.

Canadian Golf Officials Make Extensive Search for Missing Cup

Toronto, Aug. 14.—Royal Canadian Golf Association officials to-day are searching for the Earl Grey Trophy, emblematic of the amateur golf championship of the Dominion. The trophy, valued at $1,150, was presented last year to Scotty Campbell, Seattle, and he sent it back a few weeks ago but its whereabouts is unknown to officials who are anxiously seeking as it is slated for presentation to the new champion at Laval-sur-La-Loe.

It is the second trophy to go astray. A few months ago Joe Kirkwood, Chicago golfer, informed the golf body he had never received the Rivermead Trophy for the open crown he won last year. Finally the trophy was discovered in a customs office at Black Rock, N.Y.

Over the three-and-one-half-mile route, Sammy Harry, captain of the victorious Saanich crew, led the crew, followed by one and one-half lengths, while the Nookack crew finished third and the Lone Eagle, paddled by Burrard Indians of Bellingham, fourth.

British Columbia canoe men won a majority of the places at the three-day festival, held Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Marksman Put On Brilliant Success

Opening Day's Competition at D.C.R.A. Meet at Ottawa Featured By High Scoring; Q.M.S. A. E. Evans, Victoria, Leads B.C. Shots in Feature Match

South March, Ont., Aug. 14.—Climaxing a day of intensive shooting, Capt. Jack Steel, member of the Wellington Regiment, Quelp, captured the Macdonough Challenge Cup here yesterday at the opening of the annual Dominion Rifle Association meeting. The Quelp riflemen was at his best and was the only one of nearly 300 to turn in a perfect target of 70.

Five found their aim good enough for 80's and wound up in a tie for second place. They were Sgt. Dave Stuart, Ottawa; Sgt. W. O. MacDonald, Toronto; Capt. S. T. Feterbery, Halifax; Lieut. C. J. Bos, Vancouver; and Lieut. Desmond T. Burke, Ottawa.

Lieut. Bos sent one of his shots for an inner on the short range and then rammed it at 500 yards with a possible.

Fourteen tied for third place with 68, and thirteen were in fourth place with 67. Three members of the 1934 Canadian Biathlon team, Lieut.-Col. H. P. O. Letson, Vancouver; Q.S.M. George Emale, Toronto, and Lieut. J. Mead Dow, Saint John, N.B., were included in these, with scores of 68.

Col. Letson scored seven bulls at 200 yards, but dropped two points at 500.

Lieut. R. D. McLeod and Sgt. C. Iddola, Calgary, a Biathlon mate, scored 67's.

WOMEN SHOOT WELL: Mrs. W. Wetmore, twenty-four-year-old member of the Saint John Ladies' Shooting Corps, and Bernice Marsh, twenty-two-year-old school teacher from Wayne, Alta., posted positions of 5 in the two match. They were tied, however, with Cadet W. J. Steadman, Weston, and each fired three extra shots to decide the winner.

The Weston ladies, with more experience, slapped on three more bulls to win the bronze medal, while Mrs. Wetmore made her first two bulls, to become nervous because of a large gathering of riflemen behind her and failed to take enough time on her last round. It went for an inner.

The western school teacher, who traveled east with the contingent of Alberta men, took third place with three inners.

In the two match, seven shots at 500 yards, Sgt. A. W. Lamb and Cpl. A. H. Greenwood led the British Columbia marksmen with scores of 34. Scores of 31 were in the prize list. Other British Columbia men in the prize list were Lt.-Col. E. Nicholson 33, Sgt. B. I. Barton 33, Sgt. J. Lovegrove 32, C.S.M. D. Kegan 31, D. Drydale 30.

EVANS IS LEADER: In the Macdonough match, seven shots at 500 and 200 yards, Q.M.S. A. E. Evans topped the British Columbia marksmen by taking seventh place with a score of 64. Scores of 64 were in the money. Other British Columbia scores were Lt.-Col. H. F. M. Letson 67, D. M. Drydale 66, Cpl. D. Drydale 65, Lt.-Col. E. Nicholson 64, Cpl. B. W. Beaton 64, Cpl. H. I. Taylor 64, A.C.Q. I. M. Grant 64, Sgt. J. Lovegrove 64, A.Q.M.S. W. B. McKay 63, Sgt. A. W. Lamb 62, Sgt. B. I. Barton 61, Cpl. J. M. McNeil 60.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a married man with a wife and four children. I have been fairly successful in a business way, but recently I have had reverses which necessitated selling our home and which have forced me to deprive my wife of some of the luxuries to which she has been accustomed. My wife is furious over the situation. She says at me all the time, reproaches me for bad management and criticizes me even to the children. This has got me into such a nervous state that I have about lost all confidence in myself, and I am at times so miserable that I have not the heart to do the things I should do.

Do you think she is giving me a fair deal, particularly as I am devoted to her and the children and have no thoughts but for their welfare?

A FRIEND.

Answer—I think that your wife is giving you a rotten deal, and that she is the poorest kind of sport. Any woman to a shirder and a quitter who doesn't stand by her husband in his misfortune and share his grief with her as you share his, she is a disgrace as she did his property.

Also, she knows that she not only has lack of heart but lack of sense, because by her conduct she is doing everything possible to kill the goose that lays the golden egg and keep you from getting on your feet again. For she is breaking down your morale, and when this is gone everything is lost.

To have a business venture go awry, to lose money, even to have to give up your home, is bad, of course, but it is only a passing misfortune to those who take it in the right spirit. Often it is a blessing in disguise, because we learn wisdom from our failures, and when we find ourselves blocked in one direction we turn to another.

Many a man's bankruptcy has been the foundation of his fortune. Many a man's failure in an occupation for which he had no aptitude has forced him into the thing for which he had a genius.

But it is only the man who does not get discouraged who can profit by his losses. He must keep his heart high. He must still have faith in himself, and it is very difficult to do this if he has a miserably wife at home who whines over her misfortunes and out-blanks every plan and saps his courage by her prophecies of disaster.

The woman who wants her husband to succeed must hold up his hands, she must breathe fresh courage and hope into him. For that kind of a wife a man can go out and fight the world and conquer.

But the woman who sends her husband to the battle with his own full of her lamentations over his failure and his heart bitter with the sense of her disloyalty has no right left in him. He is beaten before he fires a shot. Fair-weather wives are no better than fair-weather friends.

A good wife is a good comrade who fights the battle shoulder-to-shoulder with her husband and who, when misfortune comes and he asks, "Are we downhearted?" smiles back at him and shouts, "No! I know you will win out!"

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have a darling baby three years old and a good husband. But I have an old maid sister-in-law who makes life miserable for me. She tells me that I don't know how to bring up my child. If we dance, she calls us snobs. If we play a game of cards, we are low-down. If I say I am tired, I am lazy. When I have three nights and three days with my sick baby, she tells me now old and haggard I look. Everything I do and don't do she criticizes. My husband tells me to pay no attention to her, yet how can I help it when she comes to my house and irritates me so. What shall I do?

PERPLEXED WIFE.

Answer—Take your husband's advice. Pay no attention to her. The fault-finding of such a woman is no more to be seriously considered than the yapping of a little dog at your heels.

Jealousy and envy are at the bottom of your sister-in-law's criticism. Jealousy and envy of your youth, of your joy in life, of your husband's love for you and your love for him, of the little arms around your neck. Surely, when you think of that, you can find it in your heart to be sorry for her in her loneliness—growing old with no one to care for her, with the certainty that no little head will ever lie upon her breast.

As long as you live, my dear, there will always be disagreeable people with whom you have to have contact, people who do things that get upon your nerves, people who criticize and say very unpleasant things to you, and it depends upon yourself whether you let these people make you miserable or not.

You can learn to pay no attention to them; to attach no importance to what they say; to literally let it go in one ear and out the other, so that it means absolutely nothing to you. Or else you can become so angry and magnify it and make such a mountain out of your molehill that it will shut all the sunlight out of your house.

Don't do that. Don't fret yourself over what your sister-in-law says or does, and don't let your husband by sympathy with her side with her. Forget what she says. Don't argue with her. Don't try to defend yourself. Any photograph will run down if not wound up. And remember that there is no such buffer for criticism as good nature. It glances harmlessly off those who laugh at it.

Cultivate a funniness in dealing with your in-law. You will really enjoy her after you come to see how ridiculous it is that she could ever worry you.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am deeply in love with a young man who is just a poor, hard-working boy, while I am a girl who has had every indulgence. Would you advise me to marry this young man, or would it be best for me to marry a man who could give me the things that I now have? FRODO.

Answer—It depends altogether on what sort of girl you are, Frodo. If you are one of the soft, luxury-loving kind to whom fine clothes and a good car and living on the right street are matters of supreme importance, then I should certainly urge you not to marry a poor man.

Don't marry a poor man and then beg him to death because he can't give you the things that a rich man could.

DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggly And Bunt's Water

By HOWARD R. GAMES

All of the rabbit children stood in a circle about Uncle Wiggly on the meadow. The rabbit boy in the center was ready to put his paw in his hat and out a piece of gold. The first name to be called out of the hat would be the first to try the new toy and pump which Mr. Langdon had said he would give to the first one who would bring up water.

"All ready now!" called Uncle Wiggly. "I hope my name comes out first!" whispered Jangle. "I would so love to have that lovely blue seed pump."

"So would I," said Jangle.

Uncle Wiggly began to think it was not going to be so fast as he had hoped. Please all his forty-seven-station business and seed pump. But he hoped there would be no queuing.

He pulled out a piece of shell. It was very old and small, but he got ready to read the name. "Whose would it be, the children wondered. Their hearts beat fast.

"Let us see," said Uncle Wiggly, and he took the seed pump, which a little while before Uncle Wiggly had bought from a monkey dealer (and was a toy pump, but no water came out, though the boy rabbit had seen a pump beneath the pump in each little creek and he was bringing up some sea water.

"Whose name?" called Uncle Wiggly. "I think something in the matter with the monkey," thought Jangle. "After another the name of the rabbit child was called out from the hat. It was the name of Bunt's Water. Uncle Wiggly turned the very last of the seed pump into the meadow and the pump came out with a great splash, and he and Jangle, who were a lot of water, had put the pump in the right place."

"Bunt's Water!" cried all the other rabbits. "Bunt's Water!" cried all the other rabbits. "Bunt's Water!" cried all the other rabbits. "Bunt's Water!" cried all the other rabbits. "Bunt's Water!" cried all the other rabbits.
